Plein Air Painting Workshops

2012

The workshops welcome all levels of students. The painting instruction will benefit the experienced artist wanting to enhance their individual skills as well as the novice oil painter looking for more confidence and a solid background in the basics.

Both plein air and studio workshops are offered. The week's focus will be on solid composition, creating atmospheric perspective, understanding color temperatures and values. Knowing the tools for a great painting are applicable whether one is painting indoors or outdoors. The students will develop their individual abilities while enhancing their own creative styles. The workshop emphasis will be on oils but those artists familiar with other mediums are welcome.

Two workshop venues:

Landscape Plein Air- This workshop starts with a studio day and then will continue out on location. We will tackle the vast subject before us and make great compositional decisions, vibrant color choices and learn to finish the painting in just a few hours. All levels invited

Studio 'Plein Air'- This workshop is a studio class working with reference photos. We will learn to paint from images while making them as spontaneous as if we were painting on location. We will work on loosening up and putting some bravado in the brushwork. All levels invited.
